

From: "Maxfield, Sandy - maxfiesl" <maxfiesl@jmu.edu>
Subject: Breeze article on laptops
Date: April 3, 2014 at 12:03:02 PM EDT
To: "Alberico, Ralph Anthony - alberira" <alberira@jmu.edu>
Cc: "Peterson, Erika Day - petersed" <petersed@jmu.edu>, "Keach, Jennifer A - keachja" <keachja@jmu.edu>, "Klotz, Jenne - klotzjm" <klotzjm@jmu.edu>, "Cockburn, Brian A - cockbuba" <briancckbrn@jmu.edu>, "Vaughan, K.T. - vauhakt" <vauhakt@jmu.edu>, "Haworth, Elizabeth - hawortex" <hawortex@jmu.edu>

Ralph cc PS Directors

In case you didn't see it the Breeze ran an article today on the library phasing out laptops. Erika did a great job framing the issue with the reporter and the article didn't turned out too badly with a slightly odd mix of details about the library strategy of encouraging students to bring their own devices, students saying they won't miss the laptops, and saying that students are unaware of the service.

http://www.breezejmu.org/news/article_363f2860-bada-11e3-af96-0017a43b2370.html

-Sandy

--

Sandy Maxfield, Associate Dean
Libraries and Educational Technologies
James Madison University, MSC 1703
Harrisonburg, VA 22807

maxfiesl@jmu.edu
(540) 568-6923 Voice
(540) 568-6339 Fax